Algebra 2
Unit: Exponential and Logarithmic Functions
Section: Exponential Growth and Decay

Audio

You can recognize if a function represents an exponential growth or decay by looking at the b value of f of x is equal to b to the x power. If b is less than one then the function represents an exponential decay. If b is greater than one, the function represents an exponential growth.